

In The News

U.S. News & World Report Speaks with Pedro Freyre on Venezuelan Investment in Miami

July 10, 2017

International Practice Chair Pedro Freyre spoke with national media on the rising trajectory of investments in Miami from Venezuela, amid the country's growing instability. Freyre's comments prominently appeared in U.S. News & World Report and The Real Deal South Florida, among several others. Freyre noted Venezuelan investors and other individuals from all backgrounds are looking to Miami as a safe haven from both a financial and security standpoint, and for a strong cultural fit.

U.S. News & World Report: Venezuela's Loss Is Miami's Gain

The Real Deal South Florida: Venezuelan Flight Capital Takes Multiple Routes to South Florida

Related People

Pedro A. Freyre

Related Work

International
Latin America and the Caribbean

Related Offices

Miami