Elizabeth Hodge to Speak on the Evolving Legal Landscape of Genetic Privacy

June 2, 2022

2:00 PM – 3:30 PM ET

Live Webinar

Elizabeth Hodge will moderate a panel titled, “Genetic Information Privacy: The Evolving Legal Landscape” presented by the American Health Law Association (AHLA). This webinar will explore the current legal landscape surrounding genetic privacy in the U.S., including state laws such as the recently enacted California Genetic Information Privacy Act, which regulates direct-to-consumer genetic testing companies.

Panelists will discuss operational challenges and considerations under state, federal, and international legal regimes, including with respect to consent, de-identification, research, and secondary uses of genetic information.
