Akerman Continues to Build Real Estate Practice Group in Winston-Salem with Partner Kelly Otis

October 6, 2022

Firm Adds Two Partners to Office in Two Weeks

Top 100 U.S. law firm Akerman LLP continues to expand the national footprint of its Real Estate Practice Group in Winston-Salem with the addition of partner Kelly Otis. She brings experience in commercial real estate, community development, and data center development. Otis is the second partner to join the office in two weeks, following corporate partner Michael Fulks.

“We are committed to growing our national real estate team with lawyers deeply rooted in their communities and with great skills to address our clients’ needs,” said Eric Rapkin, chair of the Real Estate Practice Group. “Kelly is well-respected in the North Carolina real estate community and she brings valuable experience in real estate investment, financing and economic development transactions to our Winston-Salem office.”

Otis regularly represents purchasers, sellers, and developers with the acquisition, development, financing, sale, and lease of commercial real estate, including the drafting and negotiation of contracts, leases and loan documents, assistance with due diligence, and drafting of reciprocal easement agreements, covenants, and escrow agreements.
