

In The News

Akerman Partner Adam Massaro Honored Among ColoradoBiz' GenXYZ Most Influential Young Professionals

March 16, 2023

Litigation partner Adam Massaro in Denver was selected as a recipient of the ColoradoBiz Magazine's nationally recognized GenXYZ award, which celebrates the Top 50 Most Influential Young Professionals in Colorado who also represent the future of the local business community.

Massaro is an intellectual property and corporate litigator. He handles complex, multi-million dollar matters, including the representation of international clients ranging from South Korea to India. He has tried multiple cases, including obtaining a seven-figure jury verdict and defending a client against a seven-figure claim where he secured a complete defense win at trial.

Massaro works with clients on intellectual property matters in a broad range of areas, including software, internet-based technologies, industrial equipment, and sporting goods. He has litigated intellectual property and high technology cases in Colorado, California, Nevada, and Arizona Federal District Court.

Massaro also represents clients in the cannabis industry in both state and federal court, and provides strategic counseling to cannabis companies, including multi-state operators, publicly

Related People

Adam L. Massaro

Related Work

Litigation

Related Offices

Denver

traded entities, cannabis brands, and investors in the space.

Massaro is dedicated to enriching his community as well. He has been a member of the Denver Children's Foundation for over a decade. He served as president of this non-profit this past year where the organization raised a record $1.4 million to benefit disadvantaged youth.