

In The News

Matthew Goldstein Writes for Reuters on the Impact of U.S. Semiconductor Export Controls

November 22, 2023

Akerman Government Affairs and Public Policy attorney Matthew Goldstein authored an article for Reuters on recent Department of Commerce updates to export controls on advanced semiconductors, supercomputing, and semiconductor manufacturing equipment. The article focuses on how these restrictions apply to foreign-produced electronics and can impact U.S. and foreign manufacturers.

The article, “Will Recent Expansions of U.S. Export Controls on Foreign Electronics Backfire?” is available here. It is also available on Westlaw Today.

Goldstein is a partner in Akerman LLP’s Washington, D.C. office and focuses his practice on international trade and national security laws. He consults on exports from the United States, reexports from abroad, arms brokering, foreign investment, and other activities regulated by the Department of Commerce Bureau of Industry and Security (BIS), Department of State Directorate of Defense Trade Controls (DDTC), Office of Foreign Assets Control (OFAC), and the Committee on Foreign Investment in the United States (CFIUS).

Related Work

Economic Sanctions
and Export Controls
Government Affairs
and Public Policy

Related Offices

Washington, D.C.