

In The News

Lillian Moon Quoted in SHRM on What OSHA Data Breach Means for Employers

August 31, 2017

Lillian Moon was quoted in a SHRM article titled, “OSHA Portal’s Data Breach Raises Concerns,” outlining implications for employers that report injury data through a recently-compromised website by the Occupational Safety and Health Administration (OSHA). Moon discussed how the incident may affect OSHA’s online reporting requirements, as federal regulators may even opt to discontinue the agency’s portal amid fears of future data breaches and the liabilities they carry across several fronts.

Related Work

Labor and Employment

Click here to view this news.