

In The News

Andrea Hartley Honored as Emerging Leader by National Council of Jewish Women

October 23, 2014

Andrea Hartley was named among the 2014 Emerging Leaders by the National Council of Jewish Women (NCJW). The organization praised Hartley for her leadership in the community and continued professional achievements.

Hartley is an experienced litigator specializing in bankruptcy and creditors' rights. She served as national chair of the American Bar Association's Law Practice Management Section, which is comprised of 17,000 members. Hartley is the past chair of the ABA Women Rainmakers, an ABA Fellow and immediate past president of the Dade County Bar Association. Hartley has extensive experience in a wide range of bankruptcy and insolvency matters including business reorganizations and liquidations, workouts, debt restructurings, assignments for the benefit of creditors and creditors' rights. She regularly represents lenders, secured and unsecured creditors, commercial landlords, suppliers, vendors, official committees and purchasers of troubled companies and their assets, both in and out of bankruptcy court. She also has substantial experience with fraudulent conveyance and preferential transfer litigation. Hartley is a featured speaker throughout the United States on bankruptcy and workout issues including at the National Conference of Bankruptcy Judges, American Bar

Related People

Andrea S. Hartley

Related Work

Bankruptcy and Reorganization

Related Offices

Miami

Association Section of Business Law, Florida Bar Association and Dade County Bar Association.

NCJW is to honor Hartley alongside other nominees
at the council's Oct. 23 Miami section opening event.