

In The News

Multi-Housing News Publishes Three Real Estate Development Trends Revealed in Akerman Report

July 26, 2016

Multi-Housing News published an article titled, “Economy Watch: CRE Execs Still Mostly Optimistic,” based on recent findings in the Akerman U.S. Real Estate Sector Report. The article examined three megatrends having the most significant impact on real estate development, including the aging population, live-work-play lifestyle preferences and society’s shift to a sharing economy. The article also noted that executives are focused on technology and its effect on U.S. property systems.

Related Work

Real Estate

Click here to view this news.