

In The News

Akerman Named Law Firm of the Year by Puerto Rican Bar Association

October 6, 2025

Akerman was honored on September 30 in New York as the recipient of the Puerto Rican Bar Association's Law Firm of the Year Award. The recognition was presented at the association's annual gala, which celebrates outstanding legal professionals and institutions making an impact across the legal community. The award underscores Akerman's leadership and commitment to excellence in the practice of law.

Litigation Partner Steve Cordero, a past president of the Puerto Rican Bar Association, accepted the award on the firm's behalf. His longstanding involvement and enduring relationship with the association added a personal dimension to the honor.

---

Related People

Steven M. Cordero

---

Related Offices

New York