

In The News

Akerman Chairman and CEO Scott Meyers to Speak at CNBC's Inaugural AI Summit

October 8, 2025

Akerman Chairman and CEO Scott Meyers will join a distinguished gathering of business visionaries, influential thought leaders, political decision-makers, and trailblazing innovators at the inaugural CNBC AI Summit in Nashville, Tennessee, on October 15. This premier gathering marks CNBC's first event dedicated to examining how artificial intelligence is redefining industries, reshaping the workforce, and transforming the customer experience.

Related People

Scott A. Meyers

At the leading edge of technological innovation in the legal industry, Akerman is committed to leveraging new tools to serve clients in smarter, more efficient ways. Scott will share his perspective on leading a law firm that embraces change and delivers forward-looking strategies to help businesses navigate an era of unprecedented disruption.

AI now stands at the center of business transformation. Across every sector, executives, boards, and investors are prioritizing AI strategies to remain competitive in a fast-changing global economy. The CNBC AI Summit will convene the nation's foremost voices driving this transformation — offering an unparalleled forum for decision-makers shaping the future of technology and business.