The International Chamber of Commerce (ICC), the worldwide leader for international arbitrations, has advised that, commencing on June 1, 2026, they will be promulgating new Rules that will automatically apply to all new requests for arbitration filed as of June 1, 2026. The ICC has not yet provided a primer on the Rules changes, it has only issued a statement through the president of the International Court of Arbitration, saying:

“The revised Rules reflect our commitment to ensuring ICC Arbitration meets the needs of businesses, states and state entities worldwide. ICC Arbitration gives parties the confidence to enter into agreements knowing that their disputes can be resolved fairly and effectively if they arise. These revisions make the Rules clearer and arbitration more efficient, while preserving the flexibility and procedural integrity that parties expect. Ultimately, the revised Rules ensure a trusted dispute resolution process that underpins international trade and investment.”
