Akerman is a sponsor of the Orlando Science Center's Science of Wine benefit. The Science of Wine raises critical funding in support of the Orlando Science Center's mission to inspire science learning for life. This event is a unique wine and food tasting with an educational twist including hands on and interactive educational content. The Science of Wine will feature gourmet and casual food offerings and an opportunity to sample over 150 fine wines from all of the major regions of the world. Akerman is a proud supporter of the Orlando Science Center as part of the firm's continuing service to its many communities, particularly in the areas of education and youth development.
