

In The News

As New Chicago Office Managing Partner, Meg George Discusses Firm Priorities, Client Service with Law360

June 14, 2018

Meg George was highlighted as the new leader of Akerman's third largest office in a Law360 article titled, "Akerman Real Estate Atty Takes Helm in Its Chicago Office," featuring her as the youngest woman to serve in a top management role at the firm. The story reported on her work as prominent land use lawyer dedicated to representing top Chicago developers, in addition to outlining her priorities for advancing Akerman's strategic growth in the region in line with client needs. George also discussed how her personal passion for competitive running has shaped how she identifies creative ways to engage with clients, as well as promote wellness in the workplace.

Law360 wrote, "George said one of her goals as managing partner in Chicago is to continue to develop the office's culture and entrepreneurial spirit, and she's looking forward to continue and grow the collaboration among Akerman's attorneys in Chicago as well as those in its other offices nationwide."

Click here to view this news.

Related People

Meg E. George

Related Offices

Chicago