Eric Rapkin Breaks Down Real Estate Trends in Law360's 2019 Outlook

January 1, 2019

Eric Rapkin, chair of Akerman's Real Estate Practice, talked to Law360 about the trends that could to dominate the real estate industry in 2019. Rapkin elaborated on e-commerce's need for multilevel logistics facilities to accommodate the growing demand of two-day and same-day shipping, and the recent popularity of co-office spaces.

"It's interesting to see how [the co-office trend] is changing the face of who the office tenants are in various markets," Rapkin said of WeWork and Regus, two well-known businesses which offer shared office spaces to companies.
