

Practice Update

Weathering the Storm

September 13, 2019

With 10 to 17 named storms, five to nine hurricanes, and two to four major hurricanes still expected this 2019 season, proper preparation in advance of storms and a methodical process for addressing damage afterward are critical elements to recovery. We take a look at some common questions and outline some best practices owners, occupiers, developers, and builders can consider as this active season progresses.
