Angela Webster represents clients in all aspects of litigation, from inception to resolution in the trial court and on appeal. Angela has first and second chair trial and arbitration experience, and she has handled appeals for both appellants and appellees. Angela's practice focuses on insurance coverage and litigation, and she regularly prepares written coverage opinions for insurance carriers involving various types of policies, including commercial general liability, architects and engineers' professional liability, professional negligence, oil and gas operations and pollution, and commercial auto policies. She has represented clients in connection with legal malpractice claims, insurance coverage disputes, maritime contract matters, enforcement of written settlement agreements, and other commercial disputes. Angela assists clients in navigating complex insurance coverage issues and avoiding extracontractual liability.
