As an urban planning professional with more than 20 years of experience in central Florida, Jamie Boerger has worked in both the public and private sectors. Her past experience includes working with public school systems, local municipalities, regional planning councils, and development companies. She is well-versed in every step of the development process, including site planning, conditional use requests, annexations, rezoning, zoning clearances, small and large comprehensive plan amendments, and data analysis. Her clients respect her background in coordinating public-private partnerships and liaising between multiple government agencies.

Jamie is a certified planner by the American Institute of Certified Planners (AICP).
