

In The News

David Blum Reacts to Final Opportunity Zone Regulations in Miami Herald

December 23, 2019

David Blum reacted to the Treasury Department's final Opportunity Zone regulations in a Miami Herald article. On December 19, the federal government released its final version of the rules, which are expected to lead to increased interest in investment.

The period for investing gains from the sale of business assets is of particular importance, according to the Miami Herald, as it now begins on the sale date. Previously, it was the end of the year in which assets were sold.

“The timing issue was very important. Before, it made no sense,” Blum said of the changes.

Click here to view this news.

Related People

David C. Blum

Related Work

Qualified Opportunity Zones
Tax

Related Offices

Chicago