Christopher Duke Comments to Bloomberg Law About Employers' Quick Response to Suspended Workplace Operations Amid COVID-19 Outbreak

March 13, 2020

Christopher Duke offered commentary to Bloomberg Law about the quick response by Disney World and at least two NBA teams to shut down operations to prevent spreading of the COVID-19, and to continue compensating hourly workers.

Duke said, "They're implementing policies and dealing with employees much quicker than they're used to. At some point there will be another really hard decision to make as to when to cut off pay for hourly workers if the business doesn't reopen. The standard seems to be two weeks, but the situation is changing so rapidly."
