Webinar

Akerman will host a webinar titled, “Telehealth: A Prescription for COVID-19.” Our panel of healthcare lawyers will provide a comprehensive look at the rapidly changing landscape of requirements for telehealth delivery during the COVID-19 pandemic.

The discussion, led by Akerman partners Betsy Hodge, Amy McCullough, and Sidney Welch, will include:

- A comprehensive summary of all recent federal changes at the various agency levels (DEA, IRS, CMS, OIG, etc.) impacting the delivery of telehealth services
- An examination of state law changes for telehealth services, including examples of the variations in state treatment and associated legal issues
- An analysis of privacy considerations in the delivery of telehealth services

The presenters will also provide practical tips for providers seeking to, or already providing, telehealth services to ensure compliance with the rapidly evolving regulatory landscape.
