Notable Work

Complex Commercial Litigation:

- Represented a publicly traded national financial institution in litigation seeking to enjoin $6 billion merger with another publicly traded financial institution. Obtained dismissal early in the case to allow the transaction to occur on time.
- Represented a client in an action for trespass against an operating medical practice. After motion victories early in the case, and obtaining voluntary dismissal of several counts of the counterclaim, successfully obtained summary judgment on a claim for specific performance just a few months into the litigation and successfully moved to dissolve the lis pendens.
- Represented a general contractor in state court litigation to enforce contractor lien rights relating to the construction of large sawmills. After years of litigation, successfully obtained judgment for the full balance owed, including principal, interest, attorneys' fees and costs. After the judgment debtor and property owner filed for Chapter 11 bankruptcy relief in Delaware, and due to perfected judgment lien rights, negotiated treatment of client's claim as a large seven-figure allowed secured claim, plus an unsecured claim, in settlement of contentious lien challenges by the debtor and the Official Committee of Unsecured Creditors. The Bankruptcy Court ultimately approved the sale of the debtor's saw mill for $61 million, which paid the client's secured claim in full at closing, resulting in recovery of all of its principal owed and attorneys' fees incurred, as well as substantial accrued interest.
- Represented a major bank in its claims for Lanham Act violations, defamation, and injunctive relief against a fintech startup relating to improper postings of the bank's involvement with the startup's loss of customer funds. After suit was filed, the defendant capitulated and removed all public references to the bank from its platforms, protecting the bank's reputation and business interests. Reached favorable overall settlement following denial of the defendant's motion to dismiss. SouthState Bank, N.A. v. Qoins Techs., Inc., No. 22-CV-5020, 2024 WL 911075 (N.D. Ga. Mar. 1, 2024)
- Represented investor in action against company and principals that fraudulently induced investor to contribute a significant amount of money in a venture relating to environmental technology. Obtained summary judgment and initiated proceedings supplementary, which resulted in a favorable settlement for our client.
- Represented a regional law firm in a dispute against a Northwest Florida developer alleging the preparation of invalid purchase and sale agreements. The case was resolved through the acceptance of an alternate creditors' plan in the developer's Chapter 11 bankruptcy case, despite the developer's opposition.
- On a pro bono matter, represented estate of deceased elderly individual who we alleged was coerced by a real estate professional into signing a deed of her sole asset, her homestead, shortly before her death. After appearing in case and filing several motions, the accused professional deeded the property back to the client, as well as several others who were not represented.

Financial Institution Litigation:

- Represented a client in complex litigation concerning a portfolio of loans amounting to nearly $60 million in alleged debt across approximately 65 cases in Florida circuit court. Despite initial rulings favoring the borrowers prior to our involvement, Akerman stepped in and successfully secured reconsideration on that decision and systematically obtained favorable summary judgments dismantling over 50 affirmative defenses in each case. This led to significant settlements with most of the defendants. The Akerman team ultimately participated in a multiday non-jury trial against the remaining defendants, resulting in verdicts for all amounts sought, including attorneys' fees. At the end of the day, the client recovered several times the amount of its investment.

- Defended a publicly-traded financial institution in lawsuit seeking seven-figure recovery for claims of fraudulent concealment, civil conspiracy, and violation of Florida's Deceptive and Unfair Trade Practices Act. Plaintiff wife alleged that financial institution had extended a line of credit to husband, and then, without her consent, used funds to satisfy demand made on financial institution as a result of husband's deposit of disputed checks. Obtained early summary judgment in favor of client financial institution which was affirmed on appeal.
- Defended a large financial institution against claims in a lender liability lawsuit seeking over seven-figures in damages. Plaintiffs alleged that client financial institution had aided and abetted and/or failed to prevent an international wire fraud and boiler room operation orchestrated by third-party actors, who were also named in the lawsuit. Following motion practice and the filing of multiple motions to dismiss, obtained early dismissal of claims against client – without ever having to answer the operative complaint or attend any hearing before the court – while litigation against certain other co-defendants continued.
- Defended a publicly-traded national financial institution in two related class action lawsuits arising out of overdraft/NSF fees. Following targeted discovery and motion practice leading up to mediation, obtained a favorable settlement of plaintiffs' claims.
- Represented a creditor in an emergency action relating to a multimillion dollar loan against a hotel owner who had allowed the property to become a center for criminal activity. The Court appointed a receiver over the property, despite the hotel being in good standing with the bank, and the case concluded just weeks after being filed. The loan was paid in full shortly after.
- Represented a national banking institution in regards to a significant loan secured by a super-yacht seized by government authorities on the island of Curacao due to alleged criminal activities of the borrower/vessel-owner. Following negotiation with the foreign authorities, established a streamlined procedure for the auction of the vessel to pay a significant portion of the loan without requiring the client to take possession and make repairs to the super-yacht.
- Represented a bank in the enforcement of a multimillion dollar (eight figure) loan in default secured by a fleet of tractor-trailers, real estate, and accounts receivable of a trucking company. Following aggressive litigation and collection actions, the borrower and guarantors agreed to a large financial settlement resulting in our client being paid all principal and substantial interest.
- Represented a mezzanine lender in disputes over rights under an intercreditor agreement and related tort actions involving the borrower and other creditors of an apartment complex worth approximately $20 million.

Bankruptcy Litigation:

- Represented a principal secured creditor with over $100 million in claims against a conglomerate of real estate development companies and their principals, in securing the dismissal of four Chapter 11 bankruptcy matters and relief from automatic stay on two matters in the Bankruptcy Court of the District of Puerto Rico.
- Represented a secured lender in the chapter 11 bankruptcy case of a large trucking and logistics company in Delaware, whose obligations were secured by multiple parcels of real estate across Florida. Obtained payment in full of debtor's obligations to client, totaling more than $6 million, including payment all of the attorneys' fees and costs.
- Represented the principal secured creditor in a Chapter 11 bankruptcy of a debtor operating a large restaurant and marina that also owned significant raw land surrounding the business. The loan was bifurcated to allow the separate disposition of the raw land to a third party developer. Ultimately, the restaurant went into receivership post-confirmation and was ultimately sold to a third party.
- Represented the principal secured creditor in two jointly administered Chapter 11 bankruptcy cases involving pavement and asphalt sealcoating companies. The client was owed approximately $5 million on the petition date of the bankruptcies, which was secured by real property, accounts receivable, and personal property of both debtors, as well as real property owned by a non-debtor guarantor. A 363 sale was conducted on both businesses and the client was the recipient of almost all amounts owed as a result of the sale.
- Represented the principal secured creditor in a Chapter 11 bankruptcy of the debtors' property management and rental enterprise. The debtors' Chapter 11 was converted to a Chapter 7 at a preliminary hearing and the secured creditor obtained relief from the automatic stay to foreclose dozens of properties.
- Represented an unsecured creditors' committee in a Chapter 11 reorganization of a continuing care retirement community in Florida.
- Represented a creditor in successfully forcing the expedited auction of approximately 500 acres of crop-producing agricultural land through aggressive Motion practice in a jointly administered Chapter 11 case. The sale resulted in 100 percent recovery for the client's claim.
