

In The News

Law360, DBR Report on Florida Supreme Court Arguments Delivered by Katherine Giddings, Marcy Aldrich

May 12, 2020

Law360 reported on the historic virtual oral arguments delivered by Katherine Giddings and Marcy Aldrich in two separate cases on the first day of arguments for the Florida Supreme Court. The arguments were delivered via videoconference due to the ongoing pandemic.

Giddings argued on behalf of medical marijuana company Florigrown LLC in a case challenging whether the State of Florida has properly carried out a 2016 constitutional amendment that broadly legalized marijuana for patients. Lower courts have previously sided with Florigrown, which argues a state law conflicts with the constitutional amendment.

In a separate case, Aldrich delivered arguments in a case challenging the personal injury protection provisions of an insurer's automobile insurance policy.

Daily Business Review: "Quiet. Mom's in Court': Akerman Miami Partner Describes Taking Part in Historic High Court Virtual Hearing"

Law360: "Fla. Defends Medical Pot Regulations Before State High Court"

Law360: "Fla. Justices Seem To Lean State Farm's Way On PIP Rates"

News Service of Florida: "Case challenging Florida"

Related People

Marcy Levine Aldrich

Related Work

Cannabis Class Action Defense Litigation

Related Offices

Miami
Tallahassee

law on medical marijuana licenses may hinge on
'and' vs. 'or'”

The Florida Bar: “Supreme Court Hold First Virtual Oral Arguments”