Donnie King Featured in Bloomberg Law's “Making Partner in a Pandemic” Series

April 12, 2021

Litigation Partner Donnie King was featured in Bloomberg Law's “Making Partner in a Pandemic” series, detailing the personal challenges he faced in 2020, as well as the surprise blessings the year offered. In the article, King shares that while he lost loved ones to COVID-19 and suffered emotional swings from the harassment and murder of unarmed Black Americans, he was thankful for the extra time he was able to spend with family and the more intimate connections that he made with his clients last year.

“I am also connecting with my clients on a deeper, more personal level. I am experiencing video conferences with pets, newborns, teenagers, spouses, and even in-laws. Clients also see me in my home and learn a little bit more about me. I now have a different perspective about the challenges each client is facing and first-hand knowledge of how the challenges are affecting their employees.”
